Information concerning the Pesticide Applicator Certification program has hopefully been distributed to all farmers and suppliers of pesticides. If you did not get a copy, please pick one up from this office.

I feel that every commercial farmer should become certified. You will find the training program both interesting and informative; more important is that with certification, you will be able to purchase and apply restricted pesticides. The list of restricted pesticides has not been released by EPA; therefore, we do not know which pesticides will be on the list. Once the listing is made public, we can expect it to be altered from time to time.

At this time only 59 producers have returned their cards. Cards should be returned immediately as we will only order study supplies for those who have indicated they wish to be certified.

• • •

Silage harvest will begin this week. We can't over-emphasize the importance of the proper stage of harvesting; corn should be well dented. When this occurs, the lower leaves of the stalk will be turning brown. Far more corn is ensiled too early rather than too late.

It's time to consider stockpiling fescue for winter grazing. The fescue should be grazed or mowed down to 3-4".

Topdress with 75-100 lbs. of N per acre. The amount should be governed by the stand and soil quality. It doesn't make any difference whether you use dry or liquid nitrogen. The dry material would cause less tissue burn than the liquid. If there is a price difference, this would make the decision for me. If the P_2O_5 and K_2O level is below medium, these two plant food should also be added. The pH should not be less than 6.0. Remember, heavy nitrogen rates lower pH values very quickly.

Best results are obtained when this is done about mid-August.

The July 1 cattle report shows cattle and calves in Virginia have increased 5% from a year earlier in Virginia. This is 15 percent above 1973 numbers.

All cattle and calves in Appomattox County on January 1 are reported at 12,000, up 500 from a year ago or about 4%. Milk cows and heifers that had calved amounted to 800.

There were 68 cattlemen and their families to attend the summer meeting of the Appomattox Cattlemen's Association Saturday at the R. E. McCleney, Jr. farm.

Avitrol is an effective chemical designed to control certain blackbirds, cowbirds and starlings in standing corn.

We've had one report of heavy damage.

Avitrol is applied at the rate of ½ to 1 pound per acre. A weed free field gets better results.

One bird eating the treated grain utters a distress call and flies in erratic patterns. This one bird can frighten thousands of birds from a field.

Sometimes two applications are necessary. It's available in 5 lb. packages for 80c per pound.

The zip seeder is available at no cost for renovating pastures. Appomattox farmers are encouraged to use it because it will probably be moved to another county next year.

and a donation be made to the Town of Appomattox toward the expense of light bulbs that will have to be replaced following this event. Council was assured that the ball park would be restored to as good or even better condition than when used by the Jaycees.

At a request by Charles Seay, council voted to post NO PARKING signs on the Southside of Atwood Street from Lee Street to Charles Seay driveway. This street is quite narrow and creates a problem as two cars cannot pass with parking allowed on both sides of the street. If the posting of No Parking signs does not take care of this traffic hazard, other action will be taken.

In other business, council voted to adopt the proposed amendments to the "Water Quality Management Plan".

W. S. Slagle, Town Manager, informed council that in an effort to help the "lagoon situation" 100 carp have been put into the lagoon and that a boat and motor have been purchased in order to more effectively deal with the problem.
